District 3 Councilman Not Seeking Reelection

Nick Carrillo's Term Expires in November

SEGUIN, Texas – Seguin District 3 Councilman Nick Carrillo announced Wednesday that he will not seek reelection. Carrillo's first term ends in November 2014.

"When I ran originally I said I was only going to serve one term," Carrillo said. "The end of that term has arrived and I'm proud and happy with what we were able to accomplish during that time."

Carrillo started his first term on Seguin City Council in May 2010. During that time Walmart announced plans to open a location in District 3 and the Mill Creek Crossing community expanded. Carrillo also points to the recent opening of the new Interstate 10 access road and future NewQuest Properties development as a sign of great things on the horizon for District 3 and the entire city.

"A lot of the projects we approved during my term are now underway," Carrillo continued. "The work of this council has set the table for Seguin to continue to grow in a positive direction. The Seguin City Council is a great group of professionals who work hard for the success of Seguin. I know that will continue into the future."

Seats up for election in November are District 3 Councilman Nick Carrillo, District 5 Councilman Carlos Medrano, District 7 Councilwoman Donna Dodgen and District 8 Councilman Bob Pees. Pees completes his second term in November and therefore is not eligible for reelection.

People interested in being on the ballot may pick up an application packet at the front desk of City Hall, 210 E. Gonzales Street. Additional information is available by clicking the “Election 2014” link in the left side of the homepage of the City of Seguin website, www.seguintexas.gov. The filing deadline is 5 p.m. on Aug. 18.

About the City of Seguin

Seguin, Texas is located along Interstate 10, about 35 miles east of San Antonio. Seguin is big enough to boast a top-rated university and a state-of-the-art hospital. More than 25,000 residents enjoy a range of cultural, recreational, and employment opportunities. Seguin's robust diversified economy features a steelmaker, a manufacturer of automotive parts and plants making roadside mowing equipment and building materials. In 2009, Seguin was proud to be selected by Caterpillar as the site of a major new engine manufacturing facility.
